MESSAGE FROM THE CO-CHAIRS

The work that the Inter Faith Network for the UK (IFN) has carried out since 1987 to help strengthen inter faith understanding and cooperation has never been more important. If you value IFN's work and would like to help it to continue, please do consider joining our supporters with a standing order or one off donation. Details of how to do that are at www.interfaith.org.uk/donate.

2018–19 has been a year of change and development, and a year of responding to major political changes, including Brexit, and the impact on UK inter faith relations of global factors such as terrorism.

The year has seen a strong focus on supporting and encouraging local inter faith organisations, of which there are now over 250 in the UK. Two very successful Inter Faith Network meetings in Bradford and Peterborough enabled groups from anywhere in the UK to come and learn from each other and from special guest speakers about a wide range of topics from practical guidance on running effective programmes to issues such as: managing dialogue on difficult issues, youth inter faith engagement and working in partnership with local authorities and other agencies. The 2019 IFN National Meeting had as its theme 'The Changing Face of Local Inter Faith Dialogue and Cooperation'. National and local faith and inter faith bodies explored together many aspects of this such as the diversifying pattern of types of initiative; the rise of inter faith social action projects and working together to tackle social problems and global issues such as climate change.

National faith community member bodies have continued to meet through the year as the Faith Communities Forum of IFN. On their agenda have been topics such as planned exit from the European Union, climate change, organ donation, security of places of worship and safeguarding. This important Forum also enables faith communities to share news of their work on engagement with other faiths.

IFN has continued to support the work of national and regional inter faith and educational and academic member bodies, including through profiling their work and through meetings to share their good practice and news. Such meetings provide fertile ground for cooperative projects and help avoid duplication of efforts. At their meeting this year – as at meetings of other categories of our membership – there was special emphasis on the importance of good communications, including using social media well. Increasingly it is vital for organisations to be at ease with the 'virtual' world and to be able to use the tools needed for that.

The impact of terrorist attacks on places of worship in a number of countries this year has reverberated around the world, increasing anxiety and worries for security of faith communities. This has been the case in the UK and concerns about hate crime have also continued to be high. IFN has worked through its Faith Communities Forum on issues such as security of places of worship, with presentations from the Home Office and others, and it has gathered and shared stories of solidarity and amplified these through strong use of social media. It has also included special sessions on 'standing together to tackle prejudice and hatred' and 'responding together to terrorism and hate crime' at its two national meetings for local inter faith practitioners this year, with input from the Ministry for Housing, Communities and Local Government (MHCLG). Also important was the Co-Chairs' and Co-Moderators' statement in September about the importance of political parties 'modelling respectful engagement in the political sphere'. That was made in the context of growing concerns about Antisemitism, Islamophobia and about extremism and hate incidents which affect a number of faith communities. It is important to remember that Hindus, Sikhs and others are also affected by these.

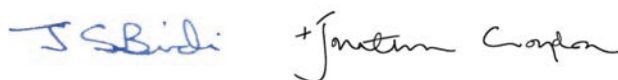

Inter faith work goes on year round but Inter Faith Week, each November, has a special role in enabling people to highlight and celebrate the work, to draw in new people and build new partnerships. Inter Faith Week is IFN's largest programme and it makes an important contribution to neighbourly and integrated communities. The Week continues to reach out into more and more local communities, as well as to draw in national organisations such as employee networks. 2018 was the biggest Week so far. Thousands of people, young and old, took part in events and millions were reached through social media with its messages about the importance of inter faith and faith and belief engagement and of the contribution of faith communities to society. The Week begins each year on Remembrance Sunday to encourage the remembering together of the service at time of war of women and men of different backgrounds from many countries. 2018 was the centenary of the end of World War I and #Armistice100 was reflected in the marking of the Week. IFN also went on to work to support The Royal British Legion in holding a faith communities roundtable looking at Remembrance and inclusion. It is so important that we 'remember together'.

IFN has continued to work closely with its member bodies, across all four categories of membership, and their vital work across the country continues. Information about IFN member bodies can be found at www.interfaith.org.uk/members. IFN has also continued to engage on a regular basis with relevant Government Departments and key agencies and with programmes such as Near Neighbours and Strengthening Faith Institutions.

We thank IFN's member bodies, Trustees, staff and volunteers for all of their hard work throughout the year which makes IFN's work possible. Bishop Jonathan came into role at the 2019 AGM and we would like to take this opportunity to thank most warmly the outgoing Co-Chair from the faith communities, the Rt Revd Richard Atkinson, who served IFN with distinction for four years.

We also express IFN's gratitude to those who have provided financial support to make possible the work described in this Review: the Ministry of Housing, Communities and Local Government; trusts; faith communities; and individual donors. Without your farsighted support, the work described in this report could not have been achieved.

ABOUT THE INTER FAITH NETWORK FOR THE UK

Local inter faith practitioners, Charanjit AjitSingh from Hounslow and Sonoo Malkani from Harrow, at IFN meeting

The Inter Faith Network for the UK (IFN) was founded in 1987 to “advance public knowledge and mutual understanding of the teachings, traditions and practices of the different faith communities in Britain, including an awareness both of their distinctive features and their common ground and to promote good relations between persons of different faiths.”

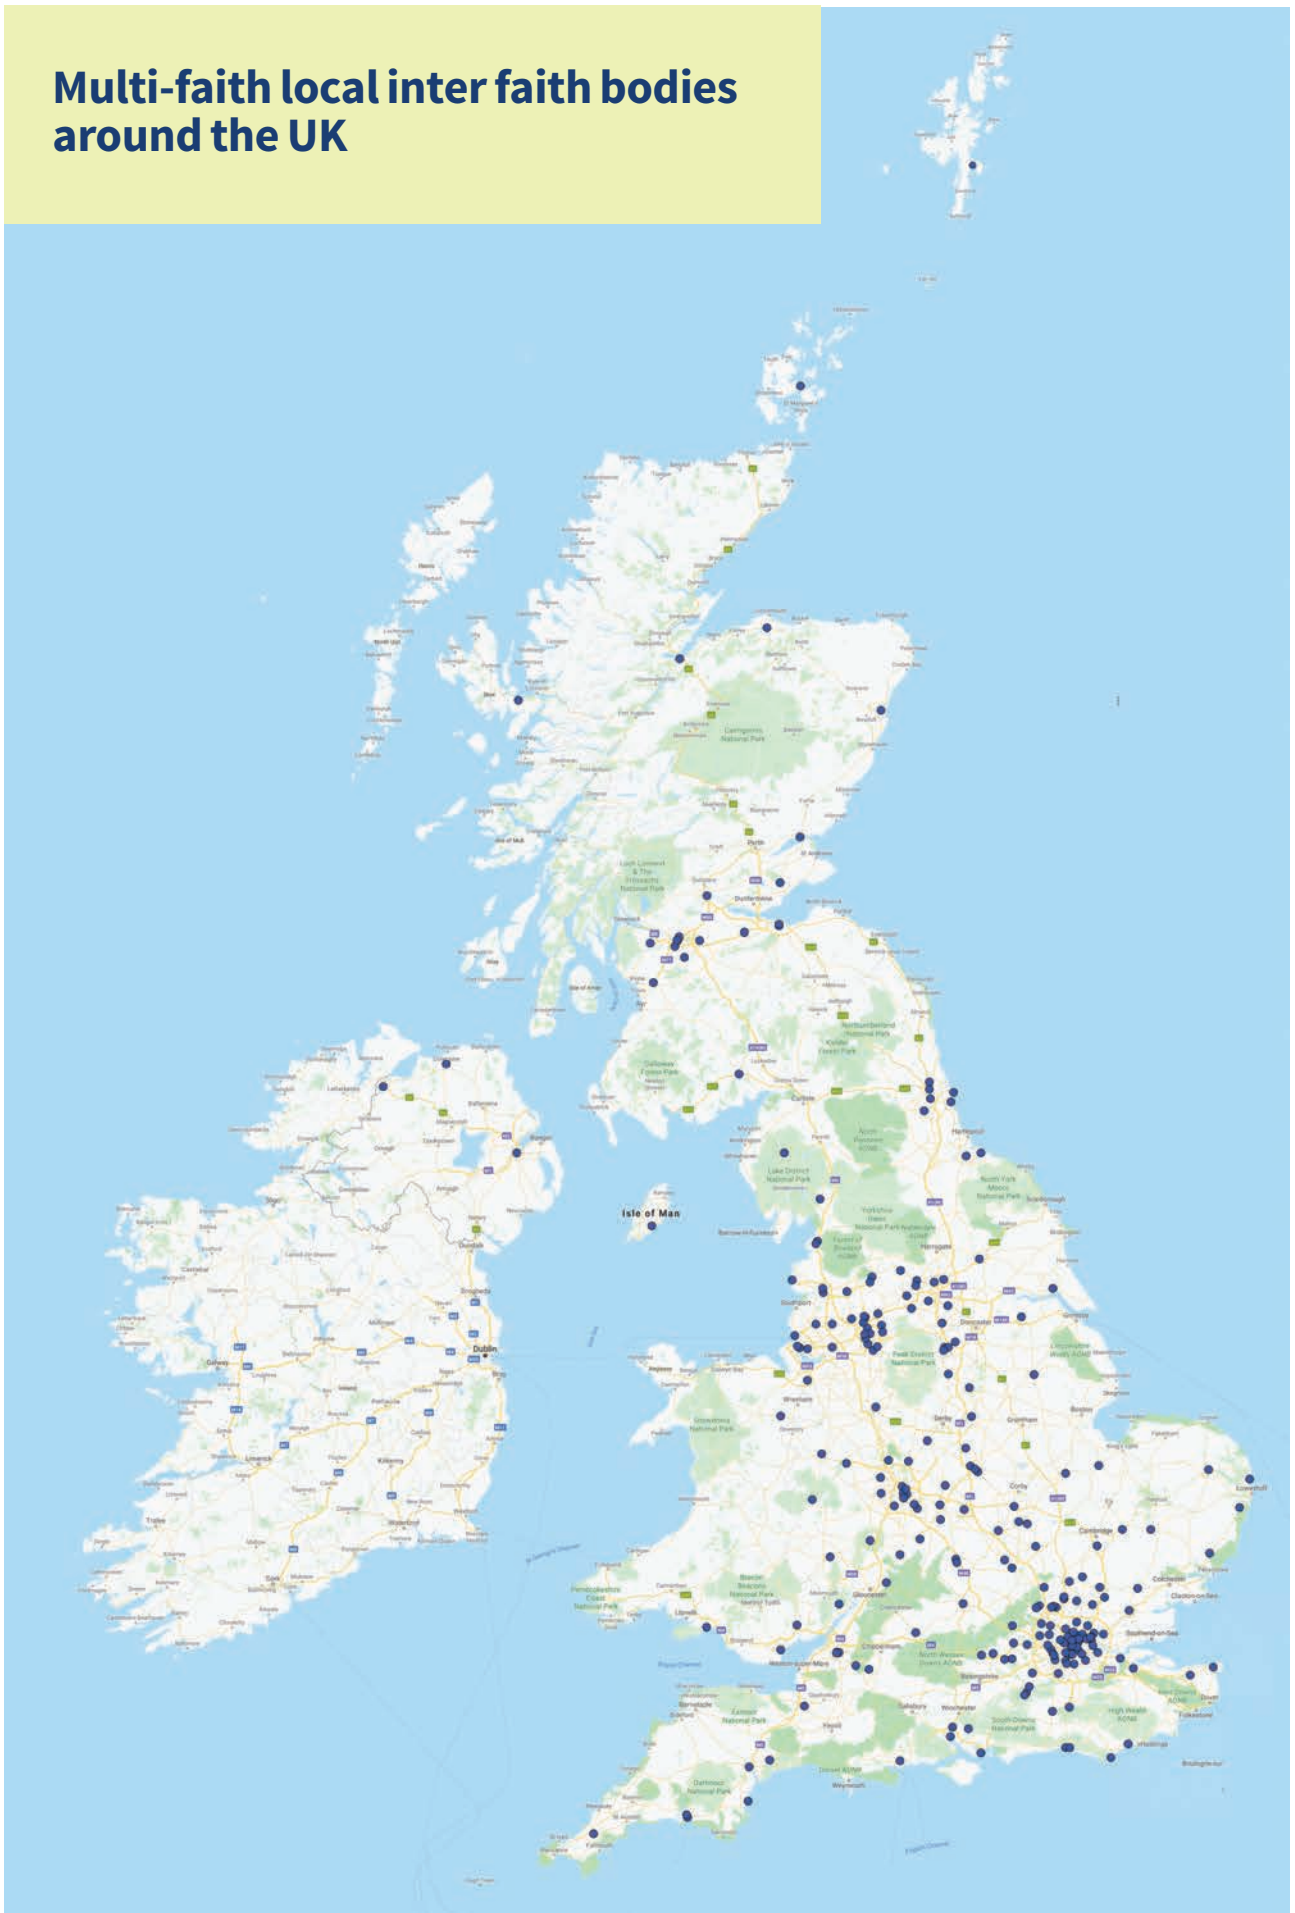

IFN’s role is unique – linking national faith community representative bodies, local, regional and national inter faith organisations and academic and educational bodies with a focus on inter faith or multi-faith issues. It works with them and with others to deepen inter faith understanding and cooperation as part of working towards its vision of “a society where there is understanding of the diversity and richness of the faith communities in the UK and the contribution that they make; and where we live and work together with mutual respect and shared commitment to the common good.”

The work of IFN, including Inter Faith Week, is wide-ranging, touching the lives of many thousands of people directly and through the organisations and initiatives with which it engages. The reach of its membership and its hundreds of informal links enable it to make a powerful difference to inter faith engagement and integration across the UK through sharing of good practice, provision of resources, and enabling coming together and mixing which promotes understanding and sparks cooperation for the wellbeing of all.

Each of IFN’s member bodies makes its own contribution to inter faith understanding and cooperation in the UK, which IFN supports by providing opportunities for sharing of good practice and raising awareness of their work.

A list of member bodies can be found at the back of this Review and more can be found out about these in the member body section of IFN’s website at www.interfaith.org.uk/members.

THE CHANGING FACE OF LOCAL INTER FAITH DIALOGUE AND COOPERATION

Participants in dialogue at IFN's 2019 National Meeting in London

“An inspirational day – so many inter faith initiatives from around the country!”

Each year, IFN's member bodies come together to explore a particular theme of importance to the development of inter faith understanding and cooperation in the UK today. The meetings are practically focused, with an emphasis on sharing of good practice.

The 2019 National Meeting took place on 4 July at the Coin Street Neighbourhood Centre in London, chaired by IFN Co-Chairs, the Rt Revd Richard Atkinson OBE and Jatinder Singh Birdi. Nearly a hundred participants from many different backgrounds and types of organisations explored ‘The changing face of local inter faith dialogue and cooperation’. The focus was on the possibilities and challenges of working locally for inter faith understanding and cooperation. The day also saw the official launch of the Inter Faith Week 2019 programme.

THE RT REVD RICHARD ATKINSON OBE

“Local inter faith engagement is a vital part of communities living well together and working to create understanding and friendship, sometimes in challenging circumstances. The Inter Faith Network for the UK has, since it was established in 1987, advocated strongly for the importance of local inter faith activity and worked to share good practice, as well as to offer support and advice. ... the agenda today is so important. It is to be real about some of the challenges that are out there but also hopeful and visionary about some of the opportunities.”

The Most Revd Father Olu Abiola OBE

Dr Katherine O'Lone

Rabbi Warren Elf MBE

JATINDER SINGH BIRDI

“Local inter faith organisations do a phenomenal amount of work at grassroots level, especially practical work in communities. Without them society would be much worse off. There are a lot of unsung heroes – people who don’t do it for glory, but just do it because they care about the environment and society. There are a number of factors in our current climate that are making it more and more difficult for small local voluntary organisations, such as local inter faith groups, to carry out all the work that they would wish. Despite this, they are still doing it. They are the backbone of society.”

LORD BOURNE OF ABERYSTWYTH

“The Inter Faith Network’s work to promote cooperation amongst our different faith and belief groups is vital to creating a more cohesive society. Particularly important is the way the Network helps to link initiatives and encourage mutual learning and the sharing of good practice to support and strengthen inter faith understanding.”

“I particularly enjoyed networking with different faith leaders and hearing which projects had been conducted across the UK. The event helped me to brainstorm possible events that I could run or get involved with for Inter Faith Week.”

RABBI WARREN ELF AND THE REVD CHARLES KWAKU-ODOI

“As faith communities, in order for us to keep our work relevant, there are so many initiatives with which we have to keep getting involved. One of the successes we have had is around homelessness and it’s one of the priorities of our Mayor. There have been numerous times that FN4M has been at the hub of community cohesion and developing programmes to bring people together in the face of terror and an increase in hate crimes.”

GEETHA MAHESHWARAN

“Our volunteers are incredible. They offer their service to humanity out of the goodness of their heart, as an offering to God. So we have a huge resource that can be offered to local government in times of emergency and it continues without funding. But we have to build in sustainability as well. Faith communities shouldn’t be regarded as a cheap alternative to local government or to charities or others. We have to show that we provide a professional service – that we open our arms to the people who are suffering, but that there is sustainability and governance in the work that we do.”

DR MAUREEN SIER

“Looking at the impact of what you are doing is very important. The big question that funders are asking now is, ‘We know you are coming together for dialogue but, so what?’ So you have to be able to articulate why you are coming together and what impact your coming together has. For example, a small local group might say ‘We are making a difference to the 10 people that come together once a month and have a conversation about pilgrimage or sacred space or fasting.’ But how might that conversation be having an impact on the wider community? What else are you doing? ... How are you standing in solidarity with others when there are crises?”

Discussion group participants at the National Meeting

THE REVD DAVID HERBERT

“[Newcastle] Council of Faiths has ... an overarching linking umbrella role and functions as a hub. Facilitating coordination and communication is becoming more and more important because we were better together and there is a strength in unity. Whilst there is a benefit to separate pieces of work, there is an importance to remaining connected.”

THE REVD LIZ CARNELLEY

“I am aware that this work all sounds very soft, and very lovely and nice, but you know and I know, that this work is incredibly difficult. It takes an awfully long time and a lot of hard work to build trust. It is very important work because it is about building what the Government calls ‘resilient communities’, communities that can withstand testing times and come together. Creating these very strong networks across faith and across ethnicity can build trust and take communities forward.”

JULIE JONES

“Throughout Inter Faith Week people witness rooms filled like this at events held by many different organisations, where the good that we do unites more than divides, and new bridges of understanding are built. Thousands of people, many of whom have never had the opportunity for inter faith encounter, see the good works, join in and celebrate.”

TRUPTI PATEL

“Local inter faith celebration events are very important. Families and festivals are the means to organise those. As we all know, women play a large part in this and it is always good to invite along women and children to events. Creating inter-generational projects is a good idea, you can involve very young children all the way up to grandparents in their 70s and 80s.”

CLLR TOM ADITYA

“In Bristol we have had Diverse Doors Open Days every year for many years. We also have Faith Walks between different places of worship. We also carry out social action projects. During Inter Faith Week in 2018 we hosted the Love Your Neighbour Awards ceremony.”

SHEIKH IRFAN SONI

“The two main towns in North Kirklees are Batley and Dewsbury, so we decided to give out our roses for peace in these two towns. ... people asked us questions about why we were doing it so it gave us the opportunity to explain about Inter Faith Week. We also went into schools together to do assemblies and answer questions in the classrooms. ... We talked about our friendship and our commonalities and how important it is to bring people of different faiths together.”

DR NORMAN RICHARDSON MBE

“In Northern Ireland inter faith work is increasingly important for us, not least because still, for many people there, the concept of inter faith relationships beyond inter-Christian relationships is still quite new and tricky. Inter Faith Week has provided an important opportunity. We have focused on issues, such as human rights and the environment. This year we hope to focus on schools and education.”

SUPPORTING LOCAL INTER FAITH ACTIVITY

Participants in discussion at IFN local inter faith practitioner day, Bradford

The UK has become increasingly religiously diverse across the last decade. Today, many towns, cities and other areas are home to people of a number of different religious traditions. This is true not just of the big multi faith cities such as Birmingham or Glasgow but of towns such as Exeter and more counties such as Cornwall and Cumbria.

Local inter faith organisations play a very important role in developing inter faith understanding and cooperation in their areas. Their activities include:

- Promoting inter faith understanding through discussion/dialogue
- Joint social action projects
- Visits to places of worship
- Faith trails and multi faith walks or pilgrimages
- Educational events or exhibitions
- Assisting on multi faith civic ceremonies
- Shared meals
- Inter Faith Week events

- Providing speakers to help school children learn about different faiths from practitioners as part of Religious Education
- Working to prevent community tensions and also to respond to these when necessary
- Enabling and supporting joint responses to major events
- Diversity training
- Providing advice and assistance to public bodies

You can find your nearest local group at www.interfaith.org.uk/locator.

There are currently around 250 multi faith local inter faith organisations in the UK, as well as around 50 local branches and groups of bodies such as the Council of Christians and Jews, Nisa-Nashim and the Women's Interfaith Network.

IFN supports multi faith grassroots inter faith activity through an active programme which includes: providing resources such as publications and special focus sections on its website; helping local inter faith enquirers with contacts and advice to strengthen their initiatives; visiting and speaking with groups; enabling local inter faith practitioners to share insights and practical learning through special meetings; highlighting to local authorities the important resource that local inter faith bodies provide; and using Facebook and Twitter to encourage more people to join their local inter faith organisation.

IFN also leads on Inter Faith Week as one of its key programmes (see page 35). Local inter faith initiatives play a key role in the Week, marking it in a wide variety of creative ways. IFN seeks to highlight these through its work to support the Week.

SHARING GOOD PRACTICE AND MEETING TOGETHER

An important part of IFN's programme in 2018–19 was the holding of two 'local inter faith practitioner days' where local inter faith practitioners from anywhere in the UK could share experiences, discuss issues of common interest and have focused learning opportunities to look at practical aspects of developing successful inter faith programmes. The first of these was held in Bradford in October, and the second in Peterborough in March. These days followed similar ones held in Sheffield, London, Coventry, Bristol and Manchester in recent years.

IFN encouraged the use of social media throughout the events, with participants using the hashtag #IFNlocal.

Reports of the two events are available to download on the IFN website at www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/publications.

FEEDBACK

100% of participants who gave feedback on both day events said that they found them to be interesting and worthwhile. Here are just a few of their comments:

“These events are wonderful for renewing and extending networks.”

“A very useful event, plenty to digest and feedback to my local inter faith organisation and local authority.”

“A great introduction to the work of local interfaith groups and what can be achieved.”

“There was a good range of themes and input, with much to reflect on.”

“It is just so uplifting to meet with others on the same road to peace and understanding.”

“It is about learning from others, meeting like minded people, chance to see the good work and opportunities for improving your own work.”

VISITS TO LOCAL GROUPS

During the year, IFN staff visited and met with a number of local inter faith groups as part of a planned pattern of engagement with local groups to learn more about their current work and support this, strengthen links, and encourage applications for membership from non-member groups.

The visits included meeting with staff and volunteers from Blackburn with Darwen Interfaith Forum, Building Bridges in Burnley and Building Bridges in Pendle – Interfaith Community Project, Cornwall Faith Forum, County Durham Faiths Network, Devon Faith and Belief Forum, Exeter Faith and Belief Group, Middlesbrough Interfaith Network, North East Regional Faith Network, Plymouth Council of Faiths, Sunderland Interfaith Forum, South East England Faiths Forum and Torbay Interfaith Forum. There were also meetings with the Rector of Liverpool to learn about the development of the Liverpool Faith Leaders’ Group and Faiths4Change and with the Chaplaincy Team at Swansea University to discuss the newly established Swansea Interfaith Forum.

Local inter faith groups in Scotland are linked in membership by Interfaith Scotland. In August, IFN’s Inter Faith Development Officer, Ashley Beck, spoke at Interfaith Scotland’s Annual Networking Seminar for local inter faith groups, which IFN Intern Bashir Ali also attended.

SUPPORTING LOCAL ACTIVITY IN ‘INTEGRATION AREAS’

As part of its Integrated Communities Strategy, the Government is working with local authorities in 5 ‘Integration Areas’: Blackburn with Darwen, Bradford, Peterborough, Walsall, and Waltham Forest. As noted above, IFN held this year’s local inter faith practitioner day events in Bradford and Peterborough (which were attended by the Integration Leads for those areas). The Assistant Director visited groups in Blackburn with Darwen and met with staff from the Community, Equality and Cohesion team at Walsall Council and there was contact during the year with the Waltham Forest Lead and other Leads.

In April the Executive Director and Assistant Director of IFN attended a meeting at MHCLG for its Integration Area leads and the bodies and programmes such as IFN which receive MHCLG support towards their work. The meeting was an opportunity for the leads to hear about this work. As well as speaking at the meeting, IFN staff distributed a number of publications and encouraged involvement in Inter Faith Week from each of the Areas.

The meetings also give a chance for participants to learn about each other's traditions. At each meeting a short reflection, relating to the main agenda theme, is given by a representative of a different faith community member body about its bases for engaging with that. This year's reflections were from Derek McAuley, then Chief Officer, General Assembly of Unitarian and Free Christian Churches, about his tradition's bases for encouraging informed dialogue and fair treatment of different groups in society; from Dr Natubhai Shah MBE on the theme of blood and organ donation and saving life in the Jain tradition; and from Mohinder Singh Chana, Network of Sikh Organisations, on the theme of care for the planet in the Sikh tradition.

The Forum is for exchange of views and information. Members sometimes build on discussions by using the new connections to create helpful alliances, for example to make common cause on tackling climate change.

The modelling of inter faith engagement by senior figures within the national faith community organisations is also a helpful dimension of the Forum.

“It is important that national faith leaders meet and engage and it is very good that the Inter Faith Network for the UK provides a space for this. It gives encouragement to the local level.”

THE RT REVD DR TOBY HOWARTH, BISHOP OF BRADFORD

Some reflections from members of the Forum who attended its meetings in the course of the year:

Karl Wightman and Rabbi David Mason

“This was my first Forum Meeting and it was an excellent experience. I felt welcomed and included. I was impressed with the careful preparation of the agenda which addressed difficult issues and the time management which made it possible to address and move on.”

“I found the agenda to be both informative, thought provoking and useful in broadening my understanding of the work of faith communities across the UK.”

The Faith Communities Forum has 10 Moderators – 2 Co-Moderators, who jointly chair the Forum, and 8 Vice-Moderators. 6 Moderator places are held by the largest communities: Christian, Muslim, Hindu, Sikh, Jewish, and Buddhist. The other places are held in a rotation agreed by the other groups. The Moderators have a particular role in relation to statement-making (see page 22).

In this period, the Co-Moderators were:

The Rt Revd Richard Atkinson OBE [Christian]
Mr Malcolm Deboo [Zoroastrian]

The Vice-Moderators were:

Mr Mohinder Singh Chana [Sikh]
Rabbi David Mason [Jewish]
Mr Satya Minhas [Hindu]
Ms Tracey Prior [Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints]
Maulana Shahid Raza OBE [Muslim]
Venerable Bogoda Seelawimala [Buddhist]
Dr Natubhai Shah MBE [Jain]
Mr Karl Wightman [Baha'i]

STANDING TOGETHER

The period covered by this Annual Review saw a continued overall rise in hate crime. The Police in England and Wales recorded 103,379 hate crimes; an increase of 10 per cent compared with 2017/18. They noted that while increases in hate crime over the last five years had been mainly driven by improvements in crime recording by the police, there had been spikes in hate crime following certain events such as the EU Referendum and the terrorist attacks in 2017. Of the hate crimes in 2017/18 in England and Wales, Religious hate crimes increased by three per cent (to 8,566 offences). In Northern Ireland the number of cases involving a hate crime reported by the PSNI to the Public Prosecution Service (PPS) rose from 335 in the previous year to 355 in 2018/19. 8.2% of those were cases involving faith/religion.

The human face of these statistics continues to be painful and disturbing,

In August, following a succession of worrying events, IFN's Co-Chairs sent a message to member bodies that included the following:

“... The issue of hate crime continues to be of great concern. The report on the horrific torture/attack on a Muslim convert in Guisborough, for which two women were jailed last week, stands out. However, many people of different backgrounds continue to experience abuse and sometimes physical attack. Places of worship, too, are vulnerable as the attacks on adjacent Sikh and Muslim places of worship in Leeds and on the synagogue in Exeter remind us. Faith communities and inter faith bodies play an important role in standing up to hatred – both in support of each other, as reflected in responses in Exeter and Leeds, and more widely. ...”

STANDING TOGETHER IN THE FACE OF TERRORISM

During the year there were terrorist attacks on the Tree of Life synagogue in Pittsburgh USA in October, on two mosques in Christchurch New Zealand in March, and on churches and other properties in Sri Lanka on Easter Day. The impact of these reverberated around the world.

Given the impact of the terrorist attacks on inter faith relations in the UK, statements were issued by

IFN guidance on responding jointly to attacks on places of worship; working for calm at times of tension; and working to build on and strengthen existing good inter faith relations. It contains material about how and where to report hate incidents, cyber-attacks, and actual or suspected terrorist activity; where to find information on strengthening the security of buildings; and where to find information about working to build – and strengthen – good inter faith relations locally. It was published in partnership with the then Department for Communities and Local Government, the Home Office, the Crown Prosecution Service, the National Police Chiefs' Council and the National Fire Chiefs' Council.

the Co-Chairs and by the Co-Chairs together with the Moderators of IFN's Faith Communities Forum¹.

The statements were widely shared and used. They are reproduced below.

28 October 2018

Yesterday's terrible Antisemitic attack on the Tree of Life synagogue in Pittsburgh USA has been responded to here in the UK with prayers and with words of condemnation and strong messages of solidarity with the Jewish community from across the UK's faith communities.

Like attacks on churches, gurdwaras, mosques, temples and other places of worship of different faiths here and around the world, it is a reminder of the need to condemn extremist violence in the strongest terms and to stand together and to continue to work together with ever greater urgency against ignorance, prejudice and hatred.

There is no place in civilised society for Antisemitism.

Nor is there a place for Islamophobia and hatreds targeting communities of other faiths and beliefs.

All communities must be able to exist in safety and to practise their faith freely and without fear.

5 March 2019

Today's appalling terrorist attacks on two mosques in Christchurch New Zealand have been responded to here in the UK with prayers, condemnation and demonstrations of solidarity with the Muslim community, including at the Friday prayer.

As we said after the murderous attack on the Tree of Life Synagogue in Pittsburgh USA last year, attacks on churches, gurdwaras, mosques, temples and other places of worship of different faiths here and around the world are a reminder of the need to condemn extremist violence in the strongest terms and to stand together and to continue to work together with ever greater urgency against ignorance, prejudice and hatred.

Hatred targeting any community because of its faith and belief is a scourge that cannot be tolerated. There must be freedom to worship and practise our faith freely and without fear.

22 April 2019

Following the barbaric Easter Day terrorist attacks on churches and other properties in Sri Lanka, many people in the UK have been coming together to express their condolences and stand in solidarity.

As we said after the terrorist attacks in Pittsburgh USA and Christchurch New Zealand – such attacks on places of worship are a reminder of the need to condemn extremist violence in the strongest terms and to stand together and to continue to work together with ever greater urgency against ignorance, prejudice and hatred. Hatred targeting any community because of its faith and belief is a scourge that cannot be tolerated. There must be freedom for all communities to worship and practise their faith freely and without fear.

¹ Note: In urgent situations, the Co-Chairs and the Moderators of the Faith Communities Forum may make a joint statement in their capacities as Officers of IFN and representatives of the Faith Communities Forum respectively, and on their own behalf, which does not then commit member bodies. Statements can be made on events that affect inter faith relations in the UK, or on overseas events when these directly affect relations between faith communities in this country.

The IFN office also collated lists of the responses by faith and inter faith bodies in the UK to the attacks in Christchurch and Sri Lanka. They can be seen at <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/news/christchurch-mosque-attacks-responses-by-faith-and-inter-faith-bodies> and <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/news/sri-lanka-easter-day-terrorist-attacks-responses-by-faith-and-inter-faith-bodies>.

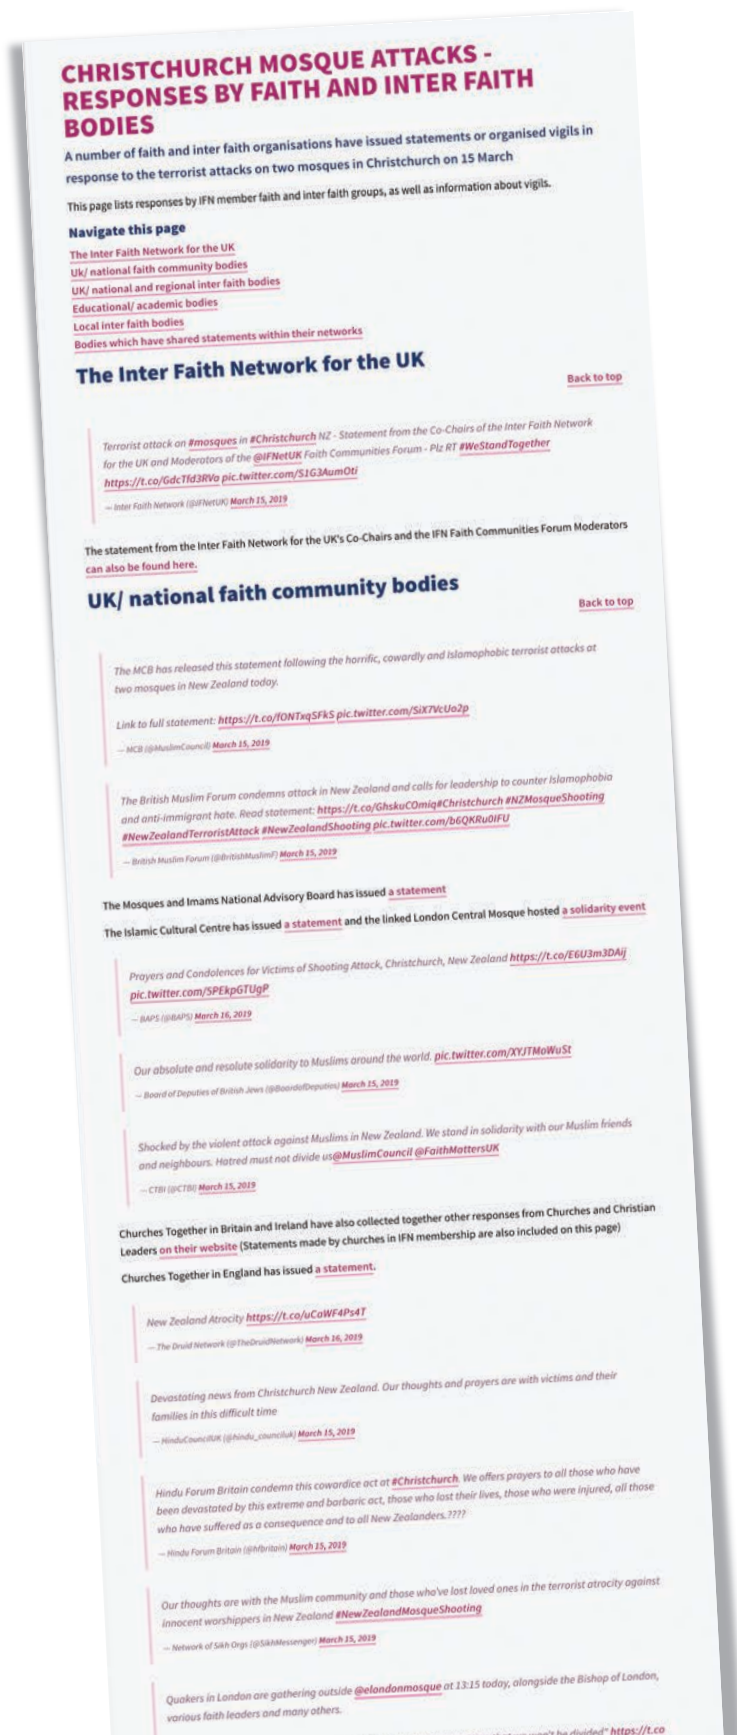

IFN's Co-Chairs also issued a message a few days after the Christchurch attack when there had been a number of incidents in the UK, including an extreme right wing 'terror attack' in Surrey and extreme right wing graffiti on an Oxford school, as well as news of an attack from a gunman in Utrecht in the Netherlands, thought at the time possibly to be a terrorist attack. They issued a message as well after the murderous attack at the Chabad of Poway Synagogue in California in April.

All statements and messages can be seen at www.interfaith.org.uk/news/statements-and-messages.

IFN's Executive Director attended a number of vigils and solidarity events organised following the terrorist attacks. At the day event for local inter faith practitioners held in Bradford in October, under the topic 'Standing together to tackle prejudice and hatred' she explored some of the ways in which prejudiced and hateful speech and actions are affecting communities and individuals and why local inter faith response is so important. Mufti Helal Mahmood MBE of Oldham Interfaith Forum and Es Rosen of Barnet Multi Faith Forum, spoke about this vital area of work from the perspectives of their respective Forums and areas. Their presentations are all included in the full report of that event at https://www.interfaith.org.uk/uploads/IFN_Day_Bradford_2019_MedRes_220319.pdf

At a similar event for local inter faith practitioners held by IFN in Peterborough in March, under the theme 'Responding in solidarity to terrorism and hate crime', Bishop Richard Atkinson OBE spoke about the inter faith response at national and local level, including from the Inter Faith Network for the UK, to the Christchurch attacks and also more generally about the importance of solidarity of response and common action; and Chris Turner, Policy Adviser, Faith, Race and Integration, Ministry of Housing, Communities and Local Government, spoke about the Government's response, including the announcement of additional security for places of worship as well as the relevance of the Government's Integrated Communities Action Plan. Their presentations are both included in the event report at <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/ifn-day-event-for-local-inter-faith-practitioners-a-report-peterborough-march-2019>.

Further information about both local inter faith practitioner events begins on page 12 of this Review.

MODELLING RESPECTFUL ENGAGEMENT IN THE POLITICAL SPHERE

The importance of respectful and fair engagement of political parties with people of all backgrounds has relevance to good inter faith relations in the UK. The year saw continuing concerns about Antisemitism and Islamophobia and about extremism and hate incidents which affected, among others, a number of faith communities. In this context, IFN's Co-Chairs and Faith Communities Forum Moderators issued the following statement on 'Political parties – modelling respectful engagement'.

7 September 2018

As the party conference season approaches, we call on all political parties to model and encourage through their words and actions an open, fair and respectful engagement with people of different faiths and beliefs.

The last few months have seen concerns expressed in relation to the processes of political parties about Antisemitism and Islamophobia and perceived slow or limited response to handling allegations about this.

This comes in the context of concerns within wider society about extremism and hate incidents which have affected, among others, a number of faith communities.

Freedom of speech and the parameters of UK law permit a wide spectrum of views to be voiced. At the same time, principles of respect and tolerance are vital, as is finding ways to deal well with disagreement.

We commend the principles in the Inter Faith Network's guidelines Building Good Relations with People of Different Faiths and Beliefs.

Religious literacy is also vital, in relation to all faiths. We hope that it will be the case that the coming months will see informed and helpful engagement reflecting the best of all the parties' visions of an integrated and harmonious society.

From 11–18 November, national Inter Faith Week will be marked. We hope that all parties will find ways to mark Inter Faith Week, highlighting their commitment to engaging well with those of all faiths and beliefs and to serving well the needs of all faiths and none at national, regional and local levels.

NATIONAL AND REGIONAL INTER FAITH ORGANISATIONS

Among IFN’s member bodies are 32 inter faith organisations and programmes whose work is carried out at UK or national level or which, while regionally focused, are used by people across the country. They are important resources for people who want to get involved in inter faith – and in some cases intercultural – activity.

IFN helps these organisations to increase the impact of their inter faith activity through raising the profile of their work; enabling them to share information and ideas through its meetings; and through publications, e-bulletins and social media.

A meeting for member National and Regional Inter Faith Organisations took place in London in March. This was for both these bodies and IFN member bodies in the Educational and Academic Bodies category.

A key focus of this meeting was communication: What methods work best to get messages across?

CONNECT: A YOUTH INTER FAITH ACTION GUIDE

An action guide for young people, including information on the different kinds of inter faith activity, ways to get involved, planning tips and practicalities, and links to further information.

This action guide was launched at the 2018 National Meeting of the Inter Faith Network for the UK, which had a special youth focus. The guide was developed with the help of an Advisory Group, which included young people, IFN Trustees, and people drawn from organisations running inter faith programmes with young people.

www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/connect

How can traditional and new methods of social media be used effectively, side by side? Ashley Beck, Inter Faith Development Officer at IFN gave an opening presentation, and Catriona Robertson, Director of the Christian Muslim Forum shared some of the ways that it uses different communications for maximum impact.

There was also conversation about youth inter faith engagement. This included discussion on member bodies' current work and issues of common concern.

IFN last year launched Connect: a youth inter faith action guide. Members discussed how they were using this important new resource.

NATIONAL INTER FAITH LINKING BODIES

The Inter Faith Network links in membership the national inter faith linking bodies of the devolved nations: Interfaith Scotland, Cyngor Rhyngffydd Cymru / the Inter-Faith Council for Wales, and the Northern Ireland Inter-Faith Forum, each of which appoints a Trustee to IFN's Board. IFN works closely with these bodies and each year convenes a meeting with them to enable sharing of news and good practice.

The annual meetings rotate between Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales. The 2019 meeting took place in May, hosted by the Cyngor Rhyngffydd Cymru/Inter-faith Council for Wales in Cardiff at South Wales Baptist College.

Issues on the agenda included: Inter Faith Week and Scottish Interfaith Week, including encouraging even wider engagement and promoting the Weeks through networks and social media; matters of interest and concern, such as responding to terrorist/extremist attacks, hate crime, climate change and youth engagement; and a brief round-up of key developments within each organisation since the last meeting.

WEBSITE PROFILES

Website profiles for National and Regional Inter Faith Organisations were updated during the course of October and the updated material is on the IFN website at <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/members/list>. The chart showing the areas of work of these member bodies was also updated at <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/involved/find-a-national-initiative>.

OPENING THE DOOR TO LEARNING AND COOPERATION

INCREASING RELIGIOUS LITERACY AT LOCAL LEVEL

Around the UK many inter faith walks and pilgrimages take place. They provide a visible public witness to positive relations and also afford a valuable opportunity for people to visit and learn more about the places of worship of their neighbours. There are, as well, separate 'Open Door' opportunities which are also ways for encouraging learning and positive interaction. At the day event for local inter faith practitioners held in Peterborough in March there were plenary and discussion group presentations on this theme. The presentations are included in the event report at <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/ifn-day-event-for-local-inter-faith-practitioners-a-report-peterborough-march-2019>. Further information about the event is on page 14.

New sections on 'Open Door Days' and Friendship links between places of worship were also created and added to the local resources section of the IFN website at <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/open-door-days> and <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/friendship-links-between-places-of-worship>.

A NEW RESOURCE FOR PRIMARY SCHOOLS

During Inter Faith Week 2019 IFN will be launching a special new resource for primary schools, designed to help increase pupils' understanding of, and skills for, inter faith encounter, dialogue and action. It will focus on learning about real examples of inter faith engagement, including in their areas. Work on the resource took place from the end of the period covered by the report. Further information will be included in the 2019–20 Annual Review.

11 November 2018 marked the centenary of the Armistice that drew the First World War to a close.

Soldiers and civilians from many countries and religious backgrounds contributed to the war efforts and in the months running up to Armistice 100, IFN highlighted that through social media posts. It also created a short resource on marking both Armistice 100 and Inter Faith Week:

<https://www.interfaithweek.org/resources/armistice-100>.

The Executive Director attended an Indian Soldiers event at Diwali in the Square at which the recently launched Khadi poppy was distributed. She then attended an event at the BAPS Swaminarayan Sanstha in Neasden honouring the contribution of India and The Commonwealth during World War 1. Arising from this, the Royal British Legion (RBL) was in touch with IFN about holding a roundtable for faith communities exploring aspects of Remembrance and IFN worked with it to bring this together. This was part of the RBL's Remembering Together programme "asking communities across Britain to come together, join together and remember together the service and sacrifice, friendship and collaboration of the men and women of Britain, the Commonwealth and Allied nations who fought together 75 years ago".

THEMES IN INTER FAITH ACTIVITY

YOUTH INTER FAITH ENGAGEMENT

Since October 2017 IFN has carried out a programme of work called Connect: Inter Faith Engagement of Young People.

As was noted in the 2017–18 Annual Review, Connect: a youth inter faith action guide was launched at the 2018 National Meeting. It can be downloaded from <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/connect> and printed copies are available from the IFN office. IFN has been continuing to make people aware of the guide during the year. In particular, sending copies to FE and HE chaplains and to Students Unions.

A meeting of the Youth Inter Faith Engagement Advisory Group took place in November to discuss a possible youth strand to IFN's work. Their reflections were incorporated into IFN's Strategic Plan 2019–22 (see page 51).

INTER FAITH SPORT

During the year IFN has continued to engage with bodies involved with inter faith sport and to promote their activities. IFN's Assistant Director, David Hampshire, attended a number of events relating to inter faith cricket, including the Peace at the Crease Initiative of the Vatican and the Archbishop of Canterbury's XI Festival of Unity, a schools' inter faith day organised by Arsenal in the Community and a 'Pitch for Hope' event, jointly organised by Chelsea Football Club and the World Jewish Congress. He also met with staff from Sporting England.

In addition, IFN worked with Sport England, the Sport and Recreation Alliance, Sporting Equals, and the FA to promote Inter Faith Week events among their member bodies.

RAISING AWARENESS AND SHARING GOOD PRACTICE AND INFORMATION

The Inter Faith Network for the UK is a key source of advice and information on inter faith issues in the UK. It provides contact details to assist in connecting enquirers with those who may be best able to help them.

As well as individual members of the public, organisations that IFN assisted during the period included Government Departments, local authorities, emergency services, voluntary organisations, schools, hospitals, the media and others.

In some cases, IFN staff are involved with projects on a longer term basis, where this is seen as fitting with IFN's aims and helping to carry these out. For example, this year has seen continued engagement with the Civil Contingencies Secretariat (Community Resilience) of the Cabinet Office, Equally Ours, the Near Neighbours Programme of the Church Urban Fund and the Church of England, the Office for National Statistics, the Religious Education Council of England and Wales and the Taylor Review Pilot, managed by Historic England and funded by the Department for Culture, Media and Sport.

Staff visits and attending and speaking at events are also an important part of this work of keeping people in touch and sharing good practice. Some of this year's examples: speaking at the AGM of the Great Yarmouth Inter Faith and Belief Network; attending an event organised by the Grand Trunk Project, in conjunction with others, to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the Jallianwala Bagh massacre; attending the Jubilee of the Shap Working Party on World Religions in Education; speaking at a dinner hosted by the Islamic Cultural Centre as part of the Vatican's Light of Faith cricket tour; attending the Council of Christians and Jews' Campus Leadership programme celebration; speaking at Interfaith Scotland's day event for Scottish local inter faith groups; attending a Grenfell Together event held by the Grenfell Muslim Response Unit and faith community festivals such as Diwali in the Square.

ENQUIRIES

Just a few of the enquiries to which IFN has responded this year...

- Our school would like to invite local faith leaders to take part in some assemblies. Please could you let me know how to contact the local inter faith group about this?
- There does not seem to be a local inter faith organisation near me. Can you offer some advice on how to set one up?
- Can you give me some information about inter faith sports projects for a television documentary?
- How can we obtain wallcharts of religious festivals for our hospital?
- Where can I find a template for a safeguarding policy?
- Our arts organisation would like to diversify its Board of Trustees. How can I let faith communities know about this?
- Who can I contact about inter faith relationships?

E-BULLETIN

IFN produces a bi-monthly e-bulletin packed with news about inter faith projects and resources and with updates about key faith and public life developments. It is sent to subscribers and is also available on the IFN website in both PDF and web page formats. Members of the public can subscribe to the E-Bulletin on the IFN website at <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/news/ifn-e-bulletin>.

CIRCULARS

IFN issued Circulars throughout the year to draw member bodies' attention to a wide range of issues and opportunities. They helped to keep members in touch with relevant faith and public life issues, such as the Government's response to its Integrated Communities Strategy green paper and highlighted IFN news and publications. They also highlighted particular themes, such as responding to hate crime and use of social media. 33 Circulars were sent to member bodies during the period covered by this review.

WEBSITES

IFN's websites provide information, advice and sharing good practice. IFN has two websites: www.interfaith.org.uk, which is its main organisational website, and www.interfaithweek.org for its Inter Faith Week programme.

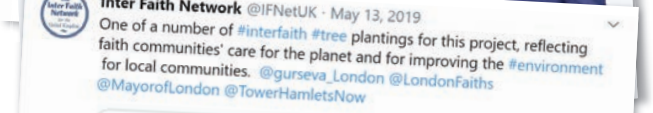

TWITTER, FACEBOOK AND INSTAGRAM

Facebook, Twitter and Instagram are increasingly important channels for information about faith and inter faith activity and they are also very useful tools for encouraging wider involvement. IFN runs separate Facebook and Twitter accounts for the Inter Faith Network and Inter Faith Week. During this period, IFN continued to use these platforms extensively and also encouraged its member bodies to do so.

Faith and the environment

In February, IFN highlighted on social media a range of different ways that faith communities in the UK, with others around the world, are working to combat climate change and on other environmental issues. See, for example, <https://twitter.com/IFNetUK/status/1096083884251533312>

The Faith for the Climate Network, an inter faith network of 130 faith-based organisations and individuals working on climate change, was among those which joined the Climate Coalition's 'Share the Love' campaign.

INTER FAITH WEEK

ABOUT INTER FAITH WEEK

Inter Faith Week takes place each November, beginning on Remembrance Sunday and running until the following Sunday. It begins on Remembrance Sunday to encourage the remembering together of the service of soldiers and civilians of different faiths and also to think about peace.

Inter Faith Week 2018 took place from Sunday 11 to Sunday 18 November. It was the tenth such Week and the report on it also looks back across the Weeks since it began:

THE AIMS OF INTER FAITH WEEK ARE TO:

- Strengthen good inter faith relations at all levels
- Increase awareness of the different and distinct faith communities in the UK, in particular celebrating and building on the contribution which their members make to their neighbourhoods and to wider society
- Increase understanding between people of religious and non-religious beliefs

WWW.INTERFAITHWEEK.ORG

Inter Faith Week has run since 2009, held in partnership the first year between IFN and Government and led by IFN with the support of Government in subsequent years. It drew its inspiration from the very successful Scottish Interfaith Week (SIFW), led by Interfaith Scotland.

CONTRIBUTING TO NEIGHBOURLY, INTEGRATED COMMUNITIES

The Week makes an important contribution to neighbourly and integrated communities. It acts as a focal point for celebration and demonstration of year-round activity to build inter faith understanding and cooperation. It provides a fantastic platform for trying new types of activity and partnerships and for members of the public to learn about and mix with people of other faiths and beliefs. The Week is also often used as a launchpad for new initiatives to get started.

“As we mark Inter Faith Week, there is no better time to celebrate faith groups around the country who are making a profound impact on their communities, and to encourage people of all faiths to support and lead inter faith activity in their area.”

LORD BOURNE OF ABERYSTWYTH

Members of the Tooting Christian Muslim Women's Group promoting the Week

The Week is increasingly used by organisations, from local authorities to businesses and sports clubs, to boost their engagement with faith and belief groups and to highlight the importance of respectful and inclusive relationships in the workplace and in their work more generally.

The Week is also about national inter faith engagement and sharing positive messages that encourage and support local activity.

Social media during the Week helps amplify positive stories about inter faith activity and engagement in the UK.

Event hosted at County Hall in Maidstone by Kent County Council and Kent Equality Cohesion Council

IFN'S LEAD ROLE ON INTER FAITH WEEK

The Inter Faith Network leads on Inter Faith Week: managing a dedicated website with activity listings; contacting a continually widening range of organisations and individuals encouraging involvement in the Week; helping provide information, advice and publicity materials; raising the profile of events; and reporting on it. Preparation and support is a year-round part of IFN's work and key to making the Week a success.

Jaffor Bhuiya, IFN Project Assistant, and Natasha Raspudic, IFN Volunteer

Joseph Kilsby, IFN Intern

In the months leading up to Inter Faith Week itself, this work intensifies, and also includes adding activities to the interactive map and calendar on the website; researching details of activities where information is not provided and contacting relevant organisations; and increased social media activity.

In 2018, for the first time, IFN made available special 'registration packs' for those who entered details of their own activities to the website. These included additional flyers, a poster, a copy of the publication 'Next Steps', badges, stickers, balloons, a pen, and information about how to increase participation, media attention and evaluate activities.

During the Week itself, IFN's activity to support the Week continues, with activities being added to the website daily. Social media activity increases further, including selective sharing/retweeting/liking of posts about the Week; creation of regular posts about different types of activity and topics; and the creation on Twitter of daily 'moments' highlighting some of the tweets about the Week featuring photographs and videos. Members of the IFN staff team and some trustees also visit and speak at a range of activities, for example Co-Chair Jatinder Singh Birdi spoke at a Kent County Council Kent, Kent SACRE and Kent Equality Cohesion Council Inter Faith Week event at County Hall in Maidstone.

Ashley Beck, IFN Inter Faith Development Officer and Bashir Ali, IFN Intern

Year-round, and especially in the run up to the Week, IFN works to ensure strong social media impact via Twitter, Facebook and Instagram. It encourages the use of the hashtag #InterFaithWeek across all three platforms. The Week has by far the largest reach on Twitter, which is a platform particularly well suited to posting from/ about events that are currently taking place.

Mehleen Rahman and Alice Bennington, IFN Clerical Assistants

Interns and volunteers form part of the Inter Faith Network's Inter Faith Week team and it is a great opportunity for them to learn new skills and develop greater understanding about the importance of Inter Faith Week, and inter faith activity more widely.

2018: THE BIGGEST WEEK YET!

This was the largest Inter Faith Week yet, with over 760 activities taking place to mark Inter Faith Week 2018 in England, Northern Ireland and Wales. Through these, thousands of people of different backgrounds, young and old, took part in the Week. It enabled mixing, learning and development of new ideas to strengthen relationships and increase religious literacy and practical cooperation on social issues.

There was an approximately 125% increase in social action activities (150) and also 127 inter faith Mitzvah Day activities linked to Inter Faith Week. Mitzvah Day is a Jewish led day of social action and volunteering with which IFN has a close working relationship.

A number of organisations and programmes supported and encouraged the holding of events in their areas. The Near Neighbours Programme of the Church of England and Church Urban Fund, for example, encouraged grant recipients and others to hold events.

In November 2018, tweets about the Week appeared on the feeds of 7.7million Twitter users a total of 27.9million times.

The Week was also featured in a number of local newspapers, radio shows and on websites and blogs.

The packs IFN sent to activity organisers meant that groups had access to more Inter Faith Week branded materials than in previous years, and this was reflected in many of the photos posted online during and after the Week. The packs included flyers and posters, and many event organisers also produced their own publicity materials with specific details about their activities. A selection of these is shown on page 22 of the report on the Week.

INTER FAITH WEEK 2018 AND #ARMISTICE 100

“The Armistice Centenary presents another opportunity for everyone to recognise the sacrifices of people from all backgrounds who lived, fought and died in the Great War.”

LORD BOURNE OF ABERYSTWYTH, MINISTER FOR FAITH

Remembrance Sunday 2018 was also the centenary of Armistice Day. IFN’s social media campaign across the first weekend of Inter Faith Week had a particular focus on the national #Armistice100 campaign and on events being held to mark that and also Inter Faith Week. A special resource was also published by IFN aimed at encouraging multi-faith remembrance activities.

INTER FAITH WEEK 2018 IN NUMBERS

Over 760 activities are known to have taken place.

The chart at the top of the next page shows a breakdown of the events held during Inter Faith Week 2018 by type. These types were also used on the website to help people filter and find events which suit their interests, although in the reporting phases some activities are re-categorised to ensure a standard approach. Note: Many activities include aspects which fit into multiple categories, and so the numbers in the chart add up to more than the total number of events.

GROWTH IN NUMBER OF INTER FAITH ACTIVITIES (EXCLUDING SCOTLAND)

A full list of the activities known to have taken place to mark Inter Faith Week 2018 can be found at <https://www.interfaithweek.org/resources/list-of-all-2018-inter-faith-week-activities>

INTER FAITH WEEK 2019

The report on the Week, published in June, included a forward-facing section with planning tips for the 2019 Week.

A flyer about the 2019 Week was circulated in May 2019 and the Inter Faith Week 2019 programme was formally launched at IFN's 2019 National Meeting. Posters advertising the Week were available at the National Meeting, and were sent – along with flyers – to all university chaplaincies in England, Northern Ireland and Wales in July.

THE UK AND THE WIDER WORLD

Some of IFN's member bodies, such as UK branches of international inter faith organisations, have a particular focus on inter faith activity and cross-faith work globally. These include the International Association for Religious Freedom (British Chapter), the International Interfaith Centre, Religions for Peace (UK) and the World Congress of Faiths.

The focus of IFN's own work is the UK. However, IFN's work – and inter faith work in the UK more generally – is of interest to governments, researchers, students and inter faith practitioners in other countries. Many make contact as part of exploring good practice around the world. This year there was discussion and sharing of good practice with enquirers from Dubai, Georgia, Germany, India, Indonesia, Ireland and the USA. There was also input to a meeting of the Faith Communities Forum from Canada.

In December, a group from Singapore came to discuss with the IFN office its plans for what became the International Conference on Cohesive Societies which took place in June. IFN's Co-Chair Jatinder

Jatinder Singh Birdi, IFN Co-Chair and Grace Fu, Minister for Culture, Community and Youth, Singapore

Singh Birdi attended the conference, sharing UK local inter faith experience with participants from many countries.

IFN produces publications on a wide range of topics linked to inter faith activity. These are all available to download free of charge from the website at <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/publications> Hard copies of most publications are also available on request from the IFN office.

TRUSTEES

At the 2019 AGM the Rt Revd Jonathan Clark, Bishop of Croydon, was elected as Co-Chair drawn from the National Faith Community Representative Bodies category of membership. His nomination came forward following advertisement of the role the previous Autumn throughout IFN's membership and consideration of expressions of interest by a panel appointed by the Board.

The Rt Revd Richard Atkinson OBE stood down after 5 years as Co-Chair. The following other Trustees also retired at the 2019 AGM: Dr Sandra Baillie; Mr Manjit Singh Bhogal; the Revd Canon Dr John Hall; Minister David Hopkins; Ms Lina Mar; Mr Nitin Palan MBE; and Mr Mike Stygal.

All retiring Trustees were warmly thanked for their contribution to IFN. Particular thanks were offered to Bishop Atkinson who had served as IFN Co-Chair since 2014 and to Mr Mike Stygal for his service as Chair of the Membership Subcommittee across the last year.

Among those elected as ordinary members of the Board for 2019–20 were eight people newly elected to the Board: Ms Jay Anderson; the Rt Revd Jonathan Clark; Mr Malcolm Deboo; Mrs Edit McCathie; Mrs Trupti Patel (who had served in the past); Mr Ed Petersen; Mr Es Rosen; and Dr Natubhai Shah MBE (who had served in the past).

IFN's Bye-law on Nomination and Appointment of Trustees notes at paragraph 3.1 that "It is an aspiration that the Board shall have equal representation of men and women. Where there are fewer than eight Trustees of any one gender, the Board shall propose measures for increasing representation at the next following election." Following the 2019 AGM, there were 10 women and 12 men on the Board.

MEMBERSHIP

The 2019 AGM accepted into provisional membership the following organisations:

National faith community representative bodies

- Institute of Jainology¹

Educational and Academic bodies

- The University of Lincoln Multi-Faith Chaplaincy
- The Faculty of Humanities and Performing Arts at the University of Wales Trinity St David
- OneSpirit Interfaith Foundation

Local inter faith organisations

- Hertsmere Forum of Faiths
- Kettering Interfaith Forum

The AGM also affirmed the full membership of the bodies which had been admitted into provisional membership in 2017: Hull and East Riding Interfaith and Salford Interfaith Network.

The AGM noted that the following organisations had ceased to operate and were therefore withdrawn from IFN membership: Cherwell Faiths Forum, Coexist Foundation, Merseyside Council of Faiths, Shap Working Party on World Religions in Education, the World Islamic Mission and Wycombe Sharing of Faiths. It also noted that, in addition, the National Council of Hindu Temples (UK) was deemed to have withdrawn from membership in accordance with Article 10 of IFN's Articles of Association; and the following organisations had withdrawn from IFN membership due to significant financial or other operational difficulties; change of direction of their work; or other reasons: Eastbourne's Faiths Forum, Lokahi Foundation, Faith in Lancaster, Huddersfield Inter Faith Council and Inter Faith North/West [Northern Ireland].

The AGM agreed membership fee levels for 2020 and noted how IFN's pattern of membership was being kept under review.

¹The Institute of Jainology has been a member body of IFN within the Educational and Academic bodies category since 1992. The nature of its work has evolved over time, and it now plays a linking role within its community. It therefore applied to the national faith community representative body category, and its acceptance into that category means that its membership as an educational body has ceased.

BECOMING A MEMBER BODY OF THE INTER FAITH NETWORK

Membership of the Inter Faith Network provides members with an important route for learning about and sharing good practice from a wide spectrum of other bodies which share a commitment to developing inter faith understanding and cooperation in the UK.

The participation and support of its member bodies are the foundation for IFN's work of building good inter faith relations.

IFN has four categories of membership: National faith community representative bodies; Local inter faith organisations; National and regional inter faith organisations; and Educational/academic bodies. IFN's member bodies share a commitment to the development of inter faith understanding and co-operation and to working together for this.

IFN welcomes applications from eligible bodies which share this commitment. The current Membership Admission Policy can be found at <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/members/about-membership>. It explains the eligibility criteria, the application process, and links to guidance for applicants.

The IFN office will be happy to assist with any queries

LOOKING AHEAD TO 2019–20

In September 2018, the Board agreed that the Strategic Plan time period should change from the calendar year to the fiscal year and extended the 2015–18 Strategic Plan to run to 31 March 2019. A Strategic Plan Working Group was set up by the Board at the same meeting to develop a new Strategic Plan to run from April 2019 to March 2022. Reflections were invited from member bodies and input was given by the Finance and General Purposes Subcommittee, the Membership Subcommittee and the Youth Inter Faith Engagement Advisory Group. A number of external stakeholders were also consulted.

The 2019–22 Strategic Plan was agreed by the Board in February and is structured around the following aims:

- 1 Raise awareness about and advocate for the importance of inter faith engagement, cooperation and dialogue and be a trusted source of information about this
- 2 Strengthen and increase opportunities for inter faith engagement at every level and widen participation in this
- 3 Continue to develop the Inter Faith Network for the UK's unique linking role and work towards new ways of engaging, including across the nations of the UK
- 4 Work with faith communities' and their members towards a society marked by mutual respect and shared commitment to the common good
- 5 Contribute to greater understanding about and between the different faith communities in the UK and to greater knowledge about, and skills for, inter faith engagement
- 6 Ensure that IFN is sustainable, effective, and able to respond quickly to challenges and change

LOOKING AHEAD TO 2019–20

The Work Plan adopted for the coming year is based on the Strategic Plan. It includes: developing and publishing an inter faith resource for primary schools; holding local link meetings and a day event for local inter faith practitioners; holding meetings of IFN's Faith Communities Forum for representatives of member National Faith Community Representative bodies to discuss faith and public life issues; creating online resources for local inter faith organisations; holding meetings for national and regional inter faith organisations and educational and academic bodies, as well as the national inter faith linking bodies in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland; continuing to produce bi-monthly issues of IFN's e-bulletin; and leading on Inter Faith Week.
